I trust you'll do fine, Suuichi!

I guess you're right!

when the next school year came,
everything around me had changed.

people missed me, talked to me, Umma even apologized to me!

Every Conversation I had WENT Smoothly.
I seemed normal. Charismatic, Charming. Yet -

I wasn't free from my resentful thoughts.

I was only taught how to hide them.

You can judge me, um...
You're just like me — ugly.

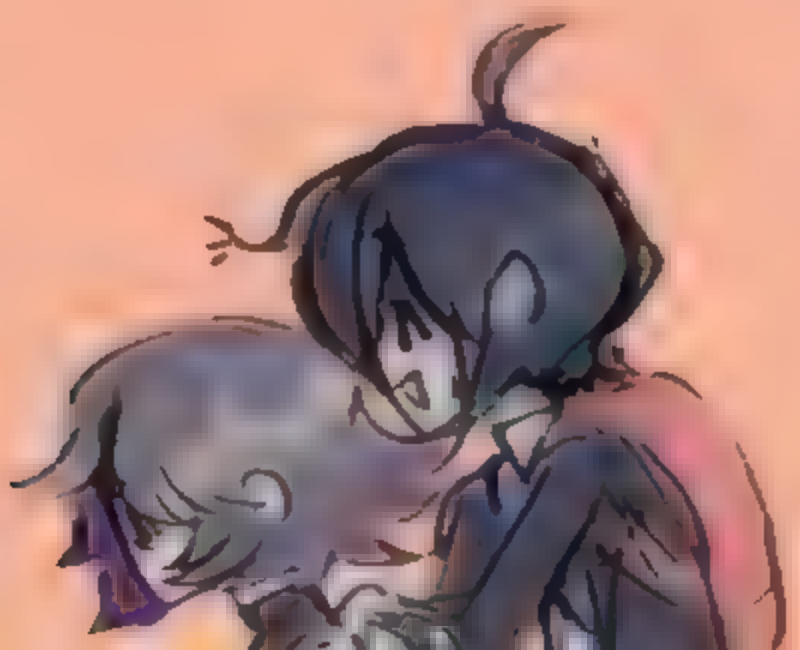
kind of like a power couple, yknow? even if we're in trouble, we can call the police and they'll solve this out for us!

you'll be completely safe!
let's just head over to your
house and see what's up!
it's fine, let's just go!



HEADING TO H'S HOUSE!!

i couldn't recall even walking here, yet I found myself opening the door.

maybe out of naive trust for saihara,

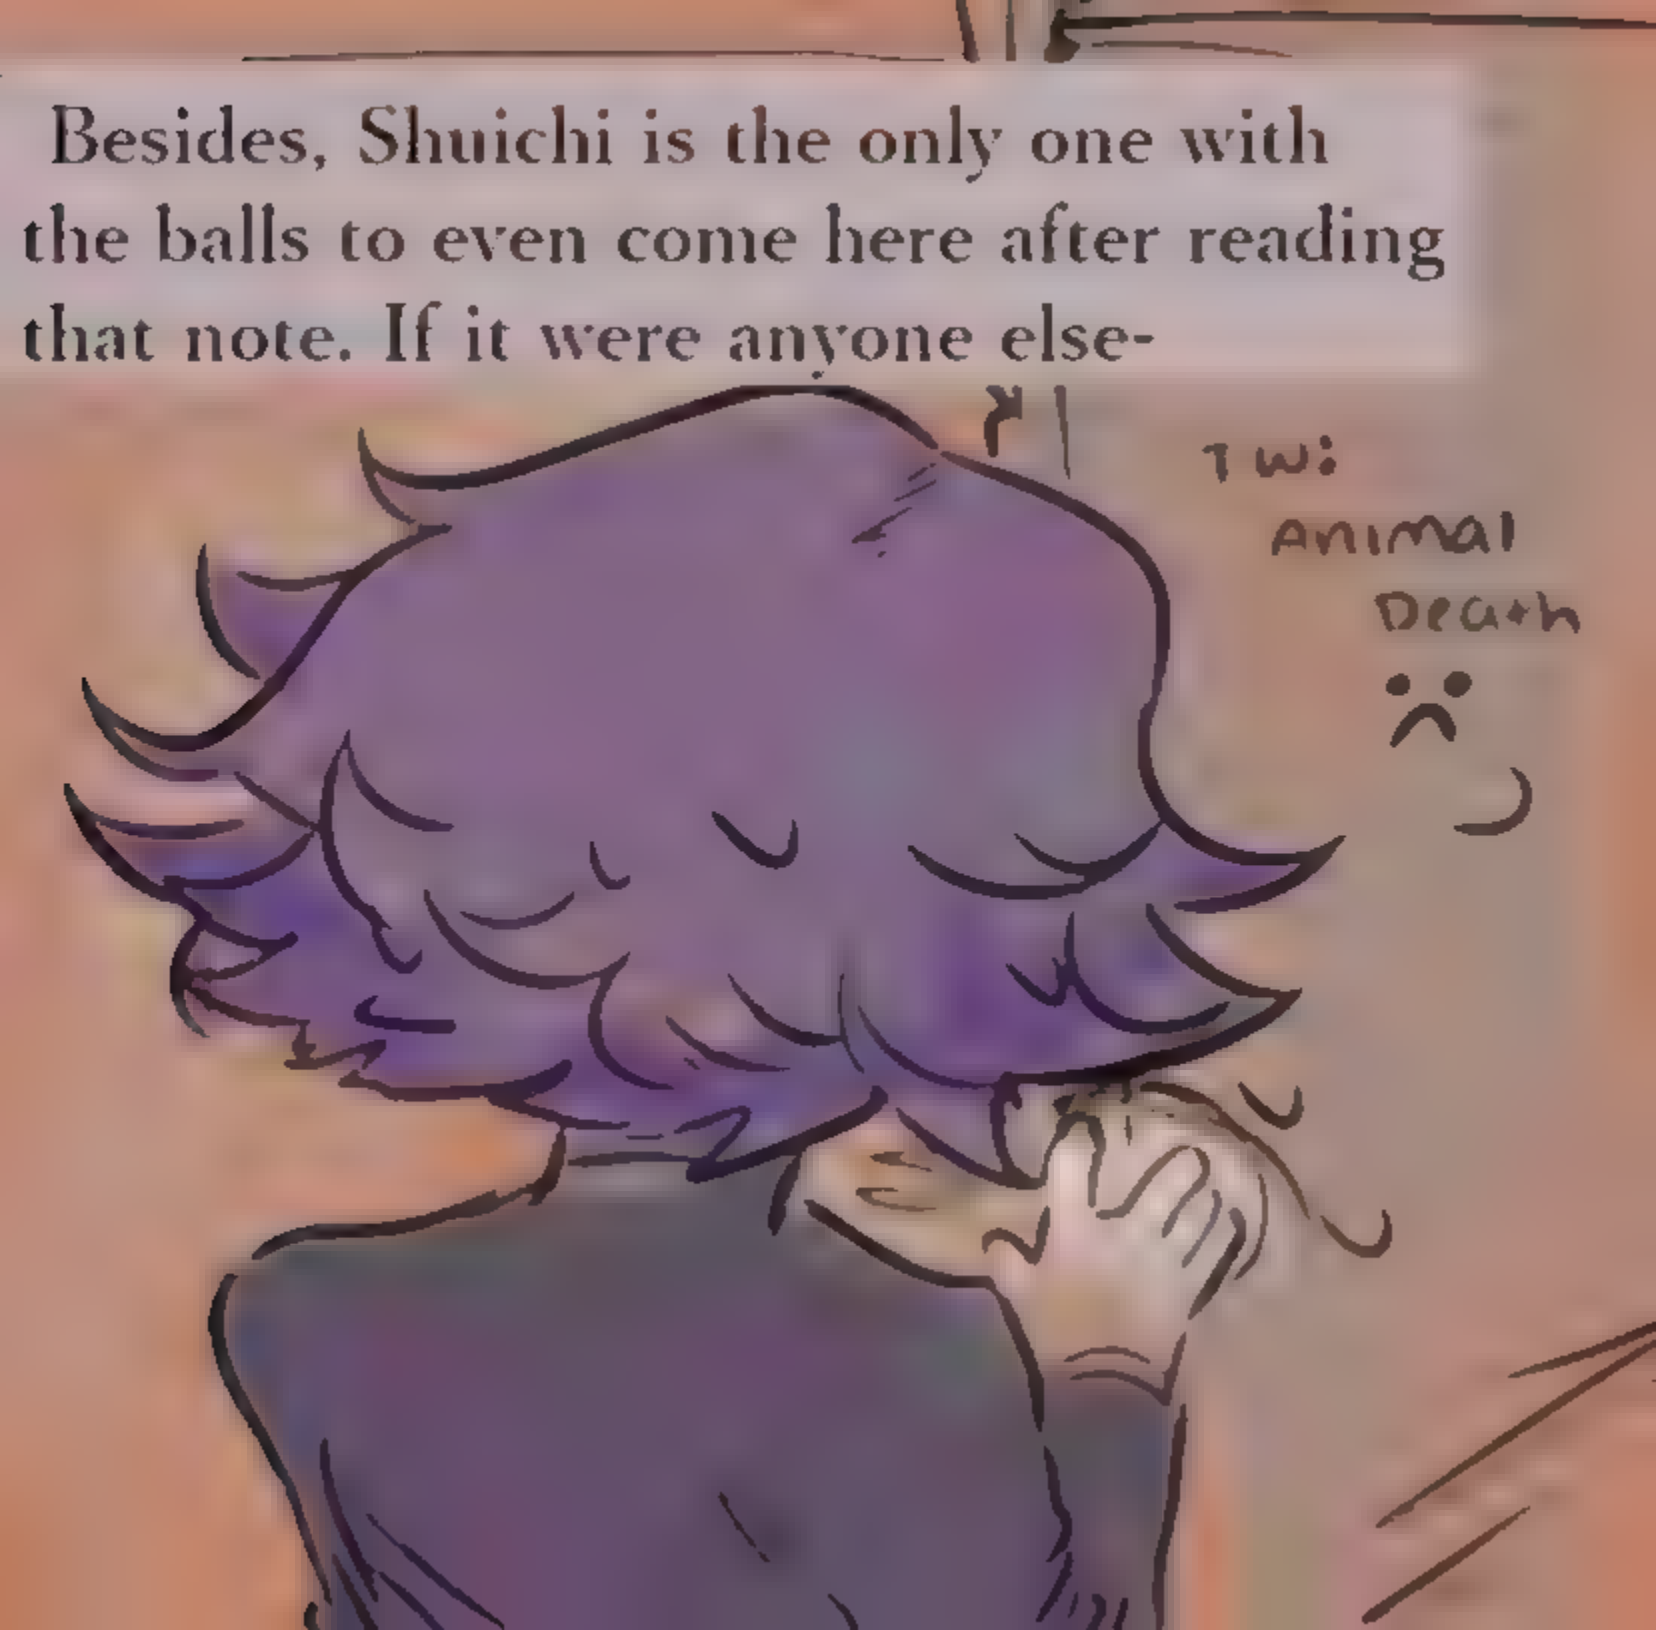
or just stupidity.

I could see him standing there,
hesitating to look at me or the pool
of blood beneath my feet.

He was just as nervous as I was, even if he encouraged coming here in the first place
Didn't have the balls to even comfort me,
not that I cared.

Any other of the guys i've had my eyes out for would've tried. I don't blame Saihara, I don't think he even can comfort someone when there's blood on the floor.

Besides, Shuichi is the only one with the balls to even come here after reading that note. If it were anyone else-



I wouldn't be here in the first place.
ah..
nah..
